Five Killed By Twisters
In Illinois And MissouriScores Hurt, Damage Vast

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Dec. 18 (AP)—Tornadoes smashed into several Illinois and Missouri towns today, causing at least five deaths and injuring many other persons. Estimates of the injured ran as high as a hundred. Property damage was immense.

Communications in the area—eastern Missouri and southern Illinois—were disrupted and details of the havoc were difficult to obtain.

However, state police reported three fatalities at Murphysboro, Ill., one near Du Quoin, Ill., and one at Farmington, Mo.

Thirty-nine persons were hospitalized with injuries caused by a tornado which cut a huge swath through Mount Vernon.

Five were in critical condition.

Many Homes Levelled

This city of about 16,500 population put out an emergency call for additional ambulances, doctors and nurses. Several nearby communities responded—including Salem, Centralia and Benton, which also sent over police and firemen to aid in rescue attempts.

Tom Pendergast, Associated Press reporter at the scene, said the twister struck in three separate residential sections—two on the north side of town and one on the south.

He said the Western Gardens section of Mount Vernon was a shambles.

"A block and a half of houses were completely leveled," Pendergast reported. "There were 15 to 18 dwellings there, but nothing but splinters remained."

He and other observers said the tornado moved erratically—hitting a house or a group of houses in one block, then skipping a nearby section to strike down again further on.

Family Has Narrow Escape

D. C. McRoy, one of the Western Gardens residents, said his wife and two children saved themselves by throwing themselves to the floor of their home when they heard the whirling wind descending on the area.

"A rug was blown over them," McRoy reported. "When they got up a few moments later, all that was left of the house was the floor."

McRoy was not at home when the tornado hit. Mrs. McRoy and the children were not injured.

After whipping through Mt. Vernon, the twister smashed into Boyd, a community about eight miles northwest of Mt. Vernon—where it destroyed virtually the entire town.

Rocket Fuse
Blast Kills 2

INDIAN HEAD, Md., Dec. 18 (AP)—Two men were killed and three injured when a rocket fuse exploded at the Naval Powder Factory here today.

One of the men killed was identified by the Navy as Airman 2nd class Nelson Lloyd Sanderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Sanderson, Centerville, R. I.

The Navy said an Army man also was killed and that two Army men and one Marine were injured. Two of those injured returned to duty later in the day and the third is expected to return to duty tomorrow.

The name of the other man killed and those injured were withheld pending notification of next of kin. The name of Sanderson was announced after such notification had been made.

The announcement said a five-inch rocket fuse exploded at 9:25 a.m. during training exercises at the factory's explosive ordnance disposal technical center.

Wiretap Case
Against Hoffa
Goes To JuryCould Receive Year
In Jail And $10,000
Fine If Convicted

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—The wiretap case against Teamsters Union boss James R. Hoffa went to a federal jury at 4 p.m. today. The trial began Nov. 22.

Hoffa, with two other defendants, is accused of wiretapping his own Detroit Teamsters headquarters in 1953 to eavesdrop on his underlings. The government claimed he wanted to head off any adverse testimony by them in future labor racket investigations.

Hoffa, Owen B. Brennan, president of Detroit Teamsters Local 337, and Bernard Spindel, a professional New York wiretapper, face a maximum sentence of a year in jail and $10,000 fine each if convicted.

Five Women On Jury

The seven men and five women on the jury got the case after an 85-minute charge by U.S. Dist. Judge Frederick V. Bryan.

While Hoffa was on trial here, a District Court in Washington began hearing a motion by anti-Hoffa Teamsters Union members to upset his recent election as president of the 1½ million-member union. The complaint charges the election was rigged for Hoffa. The chunky 44-year-old labor boss has been prevented by court order from taking over as Teamsters president until the Washington case is decided.

The AFL-CIO recently threw the Teamsters out on the grounds the big union is in the hands of corrupt leaders.

Government Backs Down

The government had to back down slightly at one point in the four-week wiretap trial. A government witness, Rudolph L. Doelcke, testified Hoffa and Brennan watched a demonstration of wiretap equipment in the Detroit headquarters July 9, 1953.

The defense offered testimony that Hoffa was in Seattle for a Teamsters convention on that date and did not return to Detroit until July 10. Defense lawyers called Doelcke a "perjurious witness."

The government charged Hoffa dipped into the union's till for $429 to pay for the wiretaps. The wiretaps allegedly allowed him to sit in his private office and listen in on telephone calls elsewhere in the headquarters. Hoffa at the time was Midwest Teamsters boss and a $21,000 a year vice president of the union.

Plane Crashes
Near 'Big Eye'

PALOMAR MOUNTAIN, Calif., Dec. 18 (AP)—A six-engine B47 Stratojet bomber crashed in the Palomar Observatory grounds today not far from the dome housing the world's largest telescope.

An Air Force spokesman in Los Angeles said three men were aboard, but the San Diego County sheriff's office said four or five bodies had been located in the wreckage.

March Air Force Base, the plane's home station, said there may have been five aboard.

The medium bomber crashed with terrific force and burst into flames. Observatory personnel put out the fire.

March AFB said the plane crashed in mist, fog and rain that made visibility zero. It was approaching the base, about 50 miles north of the crash scene, after a training flight.

A Palomar spokesman said flying wreckage grazed the dome of the 48-inch Schmidt telescope and caused some structural damage that included a garage.

Rep. Jere Cooper
Of Tennessee Dies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Rep. Jere Cooper (D-Tenn.) died tonight at Bethesda Naval Hospital. He was 64.

Cooper had been admitted to the hospital Dec. 5 following a mild coronary thrombosis.

The hospital reported his convalescence was satisfactory until this evening at approximately 6:20 when he suddenly had another severe attack and died almost immediately.

"You seem mighty interested in the game," it remarked.

"It's not that," said the first cat. "It's just that my old man's in the racket."

Victory Crowns Two-Year Fight

The hand of Desmond A. Barry, president of Galveston Truck Lines of Houston, Texas, is held aloft by Attorney I. J. Saccomanno after yesterday's Interstate Commerce Commission order which in effect outlaws "hot cargo" clauses in labor contracts. ICC Deals Blow
To "Hot Cargo"
Labor Clauses

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today served blunt notice on truckers that they stand to lose their operating permits if they honor "hot cargo" labor clauses.

Without specifically passing upon legality of such clauses, the commission said common carriers under its jurisdiction must not bargain away—through labor contracts—their obligation to serve the public.

The commission's unanimous decision, with all of its 11 members taking part, constituted another of a series of recent setbacks for the Teamsters Union.

The Teamsters have used the "hot cargo" clauses as a potent organizing technique.

Union representatives often merely walk in and tell an employer he must sign a labor contract, or face a refusal of truck lines, having contracts with the union, to handle his shipments.

In its contracts, the union insists upon "hot cargo" clauses. Under them, the employer is forbidden to discharge an employee who refuses to handle goods referred to as "hot cargo."

Such labels often are placed by Teamsters on goods produced or handled at some stage by a non-union firm, or by a firm with which union members are having a dispute.

In Desmond A. Barry, a rugged Texan, the union encountered a tartar.

Barry, as president of Galveston Truck Line Corp., Houston, refused to sign up.

Complying with union demands, nine other truck lines operating out of Oklahoma City, Okla., refused for six weeks in the spring of 1955 to handle cargo delivered to them by Barry's company for transshipment.

In its decision today, the commission said the nine carriers acted unlawfully.

Truckers holding ICC certificates, the commissions said, are obligated to accept and transport all freight offered to them in accordance with their published tariffs.

Two Die When Plane
Strikes Parked Cars

ALBANY, Ga., Dec. 18 (AP)—Two persons were killed today when an Air Force plane struck three parked cars and a utility pole and crashed near the Turner Field base hospital.

The Turner Field Public Information Office said the dead included the pilot and an Air Force enlisted man who was running with his wife to escape being hit by the approaching craft.

The woman also was hit and was reported in critical condition in Turner hospital. All names were withheld pending notification of relatives. Earlier reports listed the wife as killed.

A PIO spokesman said the man and his wife and their young son were sitting in a parked car near the hospital when they saw the plane coming toward them. They got out of the car and started to run, but the parents failed to avoid the oncoming plane. The child ran in an opposite direction and escaped injury.

$1,000 'Fixed' Court
Case, Probers Told

Senators May Subpoena Judge Later

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—Two Tennesseans swore today that $1,000 was paid to fix a criminal case before a Chattanooga court. A third witness insisted the money was a campaign contribution to the judge, Raulston Schoolfield.

Harold E. Brown told the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee he accepted the $1,000 for Schoolfield. But he said the money was to help finance Schoolfield's unsuccessful attempt in 1954 to win the Democratic nomination for governor.

Committee members scorned this explanation but Brown said that if a payoff was involved, "it was unbeknownst to me." Brown is assistant district attorney general in Tennessee.

The committee took testimony yesterday that $18,500 was passed in 1951 to quash an indictment against 13 Tennessee Teamsters accused of violence in labor disputes. Schoolfield killed the indictment and two witnesses said there was a lot of talk he got the money.

Schoolfield was invited to attend the two-day hearing, which wound up late this afternoon. He did not appear and Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) told reporters the committee had no plans to subpoena the jurist. McClellan added there was a chance a summons might be issued later.

The judge has made no comment on testimony taken by the committee, saying he would have to first make a study of the hearing record.

Today's first witness was James Spence Galloway, who testified he gave $1,000 in cash to Sam C. Jones, a Chattanooga bondsman, to fix a case in Schoolfield's court.

Galloway said he wanted a new trial after having been convicted of concealing stolen property. He had been given a three-year prison sentence.

The witness said Jones told him "he could get it handled for $1,000."

Galloway said he sold a filling station he owned to raise the $1,000, which he said he gave to Jones in cash shortly after June 10, 1954.

On June 23, Schoolfield granted a new trial to Galloway, who then pleaded guilty and received a three-year sentence which was suspended.

Jones testified without hesitation that he took the $1,000 from Galloway to get the case "fixed."

Supreme Soviet Meets

MOSCOW, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Soviet Union's Parliament—The Supreme Soviet—meets tomorrow for a session expected to last several days.

The agenda includes the 1958 budget and economic plan.

NATO under the guise of defense against aggression," Khrushchev said.

"In reality, the deployment of nuclear weapons on the territories of these countries is a mortal blow to their security."

"If an aggressor breaks the peace, then, in accordance with the inexorable logic of war, shattering retaliatory attacks on the territories of those countries in which atomic bases are situated will be inevitable."

Khrushchev wrote to the New Statesman in reply to an open letter by the British philosopher Bertrand Russell, an earl who never uses his title.

Russell, who addressed his open letter both to Khrushchev and Eisenhower, had appealed for a U.S. Soviet accord based on a declaration that neither power would seek to spread its creed by force.

Khrushchev said he went along with that idea.

NATO Chiefs
Accept Atom
Missile PlanU.S. Assents To New
Look At Possibility Of Talks With Soviet

PARIS, Dec. 18 (AP)—Atlantic Alliance leaders agreed unanimously today to jird Europe for push-button rocket warfare.

This victory for President Eisenhower's strategy of nuclear stockpiles and medium-range missile bases in Britain and on the Continent was a NATO summit conference compromise.

The United States gave its consent to cautious and guarded overtures to the Kremlin to see if any success might be achieved by fresh negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Both agreements are in principle. A lot of work is in store for ministers and technicians before either can be carried out.

Only Britain, Turkey and the Netherlands definitely want missile bases. Norway, Denmark and West Germany prefer to stick with conventional arms. Others are lukewarm toward the bases. At any rate the United States will be unable to supply missiles and warheads for a year or more. It just doesn't have them now for wholesale export.

The draft of the military paper, still subject to possible change in wording, said: "In view of present Soviet policies, the NATO Council decided that IRBM missiles will have to be put at the disposal of the supreme commander, Europe."

Swiss Ready To Host Talks

Similarly, the prospect for immediate talks between Westerners and the Russians is scant, though Bern sources disclosed today neutral Switzerland is ready to issue formal invitations for another Geneva summit conference if both sides are certain to accept. Studies and consultation among NATO members are likely to take weeks.

Thus the United States and its European allies, dangerously split on these issues when the 15-nation conference opened Monday, found themselves in agreement, if not completely satisfied, with only one day's talks remaining.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles will report to the American people on the summit conference on a 30-minute radio-TV broadcast from Washington at 8:30 p.m. EST, Monday.

Eisenhower plans to board his plane for home late tomorrow and arrive in Washington about 6:30 a.m. Friday. Dulles will make a short visit to Spain before returning to the United States.

NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak said Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Macmillan, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, French Premier Felix Gaillard and other alliance leaders stamped their approval on the military and diplomatic programs today.

No Crisis, Spaak Says

"There is no Atlantic crisis," Spaak told a news conference. "Everything goes well, and the heads of government have reached final agreement on almost all points. Some details on some few things have to be completed tomorrow."

Among these, he said, was dotting 'I's' and crossing 'T's' on where and when to sound out Moscow about a new parity.

But, the Belgian statesman added, the government chiefs have already given a definite go-ahead to French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau's suggestion that Western foreign ministers try to separate new disarmament talks with the Russians. These would be attempted if the United Nations negotiations, broken off by Russia, can't be restarted.

Norway, Denmark and Iceland reportedly do not want to bypass the United Nations so long as there is any chance of using that disarmament machinery.

This is also the U.S. view.

Passports Of China
Visitors Canceled

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—The State Department today canceled the passports of 24 young Americans who traveled to Red China in defiance of a department ban and still remain abroad.

Originally, 42 went to China last summer at the invitation of the Red regime after attending a youth festival in Moscow.

At the time, a State Department letter went to each of them, saying their passports were to be considered valid only for return to the United States.

The 42 were given 60 days to appeal a tentative lifting of their passports. This period of grace expired in the last of the cases today.

Ala. Voters Back Drastic Defense Of Segregation

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 18 (AP)—Mounting returns from Alabama's constitutional election today emphasized the determination of white citizens to abolish Macon County rather than risk Negro capture of its local political offices.

Totals nearing completion were far lighter than normal for a statewide election, but they showed that a clear majority in every section approved the drastic defense of segregation.

The amendment authorizes the Legislature to divide the central Alabama county and its large Negro population among neighboring counties.

State Sen. Sam Englehardt Jr., the sponsor, warned that Negroes could gain political domination in the county if new federal civil rights measures forced registration of large numbers as voters.

White voters now outnumber Negroes 2-1 although Negroes have a 7-1 advantage in population.

White supremacy leaders in other Southern states have watched the Macon segregation crisis with interest, but no other state has moved toward the drastic step made possible in Alabama.

The Macon County Negro population includes many teachers and graduates of famed Tuskegee Institute, and they have been active in racial integration moves.

The vote on the abolition amendment from 1974 of Alabama's 2,780 boxes was 58,824 for the measure and 40,718 against it.

British "Gag" Charge Denied By U.S. A-Boss

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—America's atomic boss today personally denied unofficial British charges that the United States has barred Britain from announcing a big step toward harnessing the H-bomb for peace.

Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, also said the achievement of H-power "is still remote."

Strauss had his office here release a statement he drafted in Paris, where he is attending the NATO summit parley.

"A report to the effect that the United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority has suppressed announcement of success in the control of the fusion reaction at my request is completely false," the statement began.

Scientists of both countries have been attempting to achieve a controlled thermonuclear, or fusion, reaction. Such a reaction would produce energy which, if harnessed in a reactor, would give the world a new source of power.

The British press has been saying that England's atomic scientists have made great strides toward the production of H-power but that the AEC has made Britain keep the news under wraps.

Horse Destroyed After Kicking Up Ruckus In Plane

SHANNON, Ireland, Dec. 18 (AP)—Pan American Airways disclosed tonight a $9,800 thoroughbred horse had to be shot dead high over the Atlantic because it was trying to kick out the side of a cargo plane flying it to New York.

The Italian-bred yearling colt named Rookwoods had been due to reach New York Sunday in the plane that also had nine persons aboard and eight other horses.

Rookwoods broke the tethering device used in horse cargo flights to keep horses from damaging themselves and the plane.

It then began battering into the side of the pressurized cabin, endangering the lives of the persons aboard, a Pan American spokesman said.

Sputnik I Death Expected First Week Next Year

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 18 (AP)—Sputnik I, history's first man-made satellite, will plunge to its death the first week in January the director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory predicted today.

The 23-inch 184-pound sphere was launched by Russia Oct. 4 in a scientific feat that astonished the world.

Dr. Fred L. Whipple said he based his estimate of a three-month life for the Soviet moon on recent calculations of its orbit.

Dr. Whipple foretold the Nov. 30 death of the final stage rocket that launched Sputnik I, pinpointing its final plunge almost a week in advance.

Russia later claimed it was still orbiting, and still later charged it had plunged on U.S. territory, but has dropped the subject lately.

Dr. Whipple and other Smithsonian scientists believe the rocket made a flaming dive through the atmosphere, unseen by man, probably over the south or east Pacific Ocean the night of Nov. 30.

Although presumably launched at the same height, Sputnik I has outlasted its rocket because its compact spherical shape presents less atmospheric drag.

Actually Smithsonian scientists aren't sure just where Sputnik I is, although they are sure it still is aloft.

Adm. Price, Early Navy Aviator, Dies

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 18 (AP)—A full admiral who was one of the early Navy aviators died today in Naval Hospital.

He was Adm. John Dale Price, USN, Ret., 65, designated a naval aviator in 1920. He is credited with making the first night landing on an aircraft carrier.

He served almost continuously with naval air groups until his retirement in 1954.

Navy records showed Price's last address was Little Rock, Ark. He had been in the hospital here three months.

Kirkwood Quits Calif. GOP Senate Contest

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Dec. 18 (AP)—Robert C. Kirkwood decided today to withdraw as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate and to seek reelection as California's state controller.

His announcement came amidst Democratic predictions that other Republicans would pull out as well to leave Gov. Goodwin J. Knight a clear field for the GOP nomination.

Doctors Amputate Frozen Girl's Foot

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 18 (AP)—A young girl's nightmare walk into five days of oblivion resulted in amputation today of her left foot.

The amputation was in a series of continuing efforts made by Rosella Auxier's doctors to save her frozen legs.

Rosella, a shy 15-year-old from eastern Kentucky, has been under special treatment here since last Friday, when she was discovered unconscious in an abandoned store at Prestonburg.

Doctors said long exposure to near-zero temperatures left her legs frozen from knee to toe.

Dec. 8, she walked out of her grandmother's house.

Five days later workmen found her sprawled on the floor of the abandoned building.

Two things she recalls clearly have only added to the mystery.

First, Rosella says she remembers going to a show somewhere.

Second, she remembers somebody picking her up and putting her in a car.

Food Prices Decline

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—Whole-sale food prices, as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet food index, made their sharpest drop this week in nearly three and one-half years.

At $6.33 the index was off 12 points from the $6.45 figure last week, the biggest drop since a 24 point decline during the week ended Aug. 31, 1954.

Scandal Magazines Fined For Obscenity

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18 (AP)—A judge today found Confidential and Whisper magazines guilty of obscenity charges and fined each $5,000.

The case against the sister scandal publications was submitted on the transcript of a sometimes sensational trial last summer which ended in a hung jury.

After the trial charges against various individuals who were co-defendants with Confidential and Whisper were dropped, and the magazines agreed to cease publication of expose type stories.

Crux of the case were stories containing sensational allegations about the sex lives of movie stars. During the trial there was much talk about the sensations, but an expected parade of stellar witnesses never materialized.

Will Country Of First Man To Land On Moon Own It?

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—At least one expert has predicted that a live Russian—well, anyway, live at the start—may whirl into outer space within three years.

And Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) has said: "We have left a period in which the idea of going to the moon is wishful thinking. It is a practical reality which is rapidly drawing near."

All right. So some earthling may land on the moon and run up a flag. Will his country then own the whole shebang?

Fortunately, George Washington University here has been trying to find the answer in a television series called "Project: International Space."

Unfortunately, the answer isn't clear cut.

Yes, says Andrew Haley, a lawyer for the American Rocket Society.

No, say Dr. Raymond W. Young of the George Washington University law school and Lt. Cmdr. Horace K. Robertson of the Navy judge advocate general's office.

They both feel merely landing on the moon isn't enough. Or, in Young's word: "Putting a landing party there and then leaving would not give sovereignty."

The experts seem to agree only on this: It's going to take study, and it's time the nations did more combined thinking on outer space legality.

Complicating the lawyer's lot is the moon itself, which doesn't fit in nicely with our earthbound patterns of thinking.

The Rev. Francis Heyden of the Georgetown University Observatory also was on the program, and he seemed to take a sly delight in pointing out the obstacles facing the first moon tourist or homesteader.

As you no doubt know, the moon has no atmosphere. This means that deadly ultraviolet rays pound down steadily; that temperatures range from extreme cold to extreme heat; that meteors, which burst into flame and usually burn up as they enter our atmosphere, pound the moon relentlessly.

Father Heyden pointed out that meteors would be no picnic. Even a tiny one, he said, could be lethal since it would move in faster than a slug from a .45 revolver.

Apparently the mooners will have to lug along a spun glass tent of some sort, to keep out excessive sunlight. Anyone who camps out this way undoubtedly could claim sovereignty to that area, but it wouldn't amount to much.

You don't cover much moon real estate with a circus tent. Possibly the Russians have the right idea. The program included a Russian film in which they showed how they had moon travel figured.

The rocket lands, and unfolds. Inside is a small tank. It runs up an antenna, and moves out on exploring trips, busily sending television pictures to earth as it prowls around. It would be unmanned and would work automatically.

Which seems like a fine idea. If any argument ever comes over who owns the back 40 on the moon, let's confine the fight to a couple of tanks, both unmanned.

Reno, Business Bad, Stages Big Giveaway Binge

RENO, Nev., Dec. 18 (AP)—The early winter doldrums have sent this city of gamblers on a vast giveaway binge.

The casual visitor would gather from newspaper, television and radio advertisements that Reno has become a freeloader's paradise. He wouldn't be far wrong. Without a cent in his pockets, the average guy can have a party on the free drinks available at almost any gambling house.

And the guy with a nickel—he can get that free in the form of a gambling token—and a little luck with a slot machine stands a chance of winning anything from a plum pudding to a trip around the world.

Prizes available this week, for instance, at hotels and casinos include turkeys, a motor scooter, a new car and a $4,000 mink coat. Cash drawings with prizes up to $500 are held every few hours in the major clubs. And there's most always a 98-cent chicken dinner or two to entice you into a gambling parlor.

The Holiday Hotel—which already has given one couple a free trip around the world and now is giving away its second mink coat—is setting the pace.

Why all the free stuff in a city which traditionally would rather see you lose your shirt?

The gamblers tell you frankly that business is bad. Some say it's worse than usual at this time of year when enough snow hasn't covered the hills to attract skiing crowds from the West Coast.

Others say it's no worse than other years at this time.

Russians Open New Antarctic Station

MOSCOW, Dec. 18 (AP)—Tass reported last night a 33-man Soviet expedition has raised the hammer and sickle over a new Soviet antarctic station, called Vostok, at the south geomagnetic pole.

The expedition was reported to have arrived Monday. Tass said the men had crossed 880 miles of mostly uncharted wastes—combating bitter cold, low atmospheric pressure and oxygen deficiency all the way—by sled-train from Mirny, the Soviet coastal base on the Davis Sea. The geomagnetic pole lies 791 miles from the South Pole. Still farther away, near the George V coast, is the south magnetic pole.

Research Bureau Chief Says State To Need $28 Million In New Revenue

BALTIMORE, Dec. 18 (AP)—The quest of State Sen. Edward S. Northrop (D-Montgomery), chairman of the Legislative Council Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters, the council screens proposed legislation between sessions of the General Assembly, whose next session will open in Annapolis Feb. 5.

Shriver said he used this reasoning in arriving at his $28 million dollar estimate.

Of the 361 million dollar budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958, general funds account for 163 million. The rest is in special funds, which are inflexibly assigned to specific purposes and therefore cannot be used to finance other services.

A 20 million dollar rise "seems possible" in general fund needs. "Normal budget growth" — increased services for a growing population—would account for 3½ million of this. There also would be 3 million for additional State employees' retirement costs, 8 million more for public education and teachers' retirement, and 3½ million for "salary adjustments," or income tax from two per cent to three.

His report was made at the re-

Jai Alai Foes Given 30 Days To Amend Suit

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 18 (AP)—Attorneys trying to block introduction of jai alai in Anne Arundel County have been given 30 days in which to amend a second suit filed against the county commissioners and Auditoriums Inc., licensed to operate the pari-mutuel gambling sport.

Judges Benjamin Michaelson and Matthew S. Evans took the same action with respect to a suit seeking a circuit court review of the commissioners' action as they did last Saturday in one asking a permanent injunction against Auditoriums Inc.

They sustained defense demurrers on technical grounds in both cases, but left the matter open for further consideration.

Atty's C. Bowie Rose and Hyman Pressman said they hoped to file by this weekend their amended suit seeking a permanent court order against the proposed operation. At the invitation of Chief Judge Michaelson they're expanding the suit to test its broader issues.

Pressman said he will challenge the county's authority to tax pari-mutuel betting, which is now done only by the State on horse racing.

Baltimore Dancer Claims Order Illegal

BALTIMORE, Dec. 18 (AP)—A night club dancer went to court today to fight a ruling which she says, in effect, strips her of her constitutional rights.

Mrs. Dorothy Ryan and two other performers were barred from all licensed night spots in Baltimore on an order issued by Frank Hanson, chairman of the Board of Liquor License Commissioners.

The order also suspended for 90 days the license of the Piccadilly Club.

Hanson's order barring the three performers referred to an allegedly indecent show at the club. The order said "these three girls are to be barred from any licensed place in Baltimore city as a performer, employee or patron."

Attorneys for Mrs. Ryan claimed the order barring the women was illegal, unconstitutional and void.

The board was ordered to answer the suit by January 21.

PTA Urges Fewer Horror, Sex Films

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Parent-Teachers Assn. of Annapolis Junior High School has urged local theater operators to cut down on the showing of horror and sex movies and show more films for family entertainment.

More than 300 persons last night endorsed a resolution asking exhibitors to improve their billings in the interest of teen-age youngsters. Parents and friends of St. Mary's Catholic High School previously had undertaken their own study of local movie entertainment and reading matter on Annapolis newstands.

Mrs. Raymond Schwartz, PTA president at Annapolis Junior High, said recent movies "have been frightening and demoralizing and, more than that, have put ideas into teenagers' heads."

"It is not the horror pictures alone," she said. "It is those in which there is too much emotional content and too large an emphasis on sex to which parents strenuously object."

Steel Slump Causes Layoffs In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Dec. 18 (AP)—A general slump in the steel industry is causing rising unemployment in Baltimore, union officials reported today.

Spokesmen for the United Steel Workers of America said 700 workers have been laid off at Armco Steel Corp., 500 at Bethlehem Steel and 200 at Eastern Stainless Steel Corp.

Hotel Bandit Nabbed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 (AP)—An unemployed laborer told police today he held up five hotels to get money for his wife and five children.

Lawrence George Marshall, 27, was arrested after an early morning holdup in which $76 was taken from the night manager of the Cairo Hotel.

Old Law Is Ruled Invalid But Publisher Chastised

TOWSON, Md., Dec. 18 (AP)—A cob-web covered law making it a crime to circulate false statements about the solvency of a bank was ruled invalid today because of a technical quirk. Charges brought under the law against a newspaper publisher were dismissed.

But Editor-Publisher W. Fenwick Keyser of the weekly Union News was chastised from the Baltimore County Circuit bench for publishing an admittedly-false story about two Towson banks.

Judges John B. Gontrum and Michael Paul Smith, said in a written opinion:

"It is hard to understand how the editor of a supposedly responsible journal would have permitted himself to indulge in such a thoughtless escapade. . . . It is difficult to conceive a greater disservice to the American ideals of freedom of speech and of the press than the publication of a misleading article such as the one in question."

The Oct. 4 issue of the Union News was dedicated to National Newspaper Week. Carried on the front page were make-believe stories. In Keyser's weekly page one column, "The Keyhole," he explained that the purpose was to show how a newspaper might appear if it were published under government censorship.

Four indictments of 16 counts each were returned against Keyser and the Union News Publishing Co. Inc., because of a story headlined: "Local Banks Cease Paying Interest."

In seeking dismissal, the publisher's attorneys argued that the old law, first enacted in 1904 and later amended, was unconstitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and press.

"A number of nice constitutional questions have been raised in the motions to dismiss," the judges said. ". . . It would be interesting to review all the constitutional phases of the case which have been presented, but it is unnecessary to decide these questions as the court is of the opinion that the statute is unconstitutional on the grounds of improper tiling."

They explained that "the body of the act is broader than the title."

Judges Gontrum and Smith, in criticism of Keyser, said:

"The account of the purported stopping of interest payments by the banks. . . clearly violates the statute. The explanation given by the editor that the whole front page. . . was just a joke to illustrate the difference between the American traditions of freedom of the press and the Communist type of journalism, neither explains nor excuses."

A Uniontown man was killed Monday while hunting in nearby Somerset County, Pa.

Victim of the hunting fatality was George Curtis Moyer, 32, who sustained a gunshot wound in the back of his head by an unidentified person while hunting doe in a thickly wooded area between Markleton and Rockwood, about 12 miles from Somerset.

Sheriff Norman F. Walker, Robert H. Halverson, county coroner, and state and county police are investigating the case.

Moyer, a son of A. Curtis Moyer, was a former maintenance superintendent of state highways in the Uniontown area.

Moyer was hunting with Frederick Sproul and 10 other men.

Police said the hunters separated, and that they found Moyer's body while making their way back to the improved highway.

Moyer was a member of Percy Methodist Church and a veteran of World War II, having served three years in the Navy. He was graduated from North Union High School, Class of 1943, and received a bachelor of arts degree in business administration from Waynesburg College in 1950.

He also leaves a son, Jeffrey Kent; two brothers, William E. and James K. Moyer, both of Lemont, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Josephine Matthews, Lemont.

The body is at the Gleason Funeral Home in Uniontown where services will be conducted today at 2 p. m. Rev. Raymond Hann will officiate and burial will be in Lafayette Memorial Park.

Secrets Of Charm

Hints For Holiday Hostess

Underdoing, not overdoing — that's the secret of a charming hostess!

If you wear yourself out getting ready, then you're upset and excited before the party ever gets under way. Guests are always sensitive to the mood of the hostess . . . and if she's tired—then where's the fun?

Granted at this busy holiday season that, as a woman, you are expected to be a good housewife, a glamor girl, a guiding light, the head shopper and a gracious hostess all rolled into one. But you wouldn't have it different at this time of the year! However, there are ways to make it a little easier—and put you at the head of the list as a good hostess. Here are a few hints.

1. Make all the arrangements and preparations at least a day before the party—that also includes your clothes and beautifying.

2. Keep the party within your budget and don't feel you have to mimic someone above your station in life. Give thought instead to simplicity and imagination . . . which are both preferred to ostentation. No one enjoys a dinner put on for show or with obvious effort.

3. Have a relaxed attitude and be gay—that's even more important than food, decorations and the order of your home. To do this, save an hour in the afternoon of the big day for pampering yourself. Then when guests arrive, you will feel and look as though you were going to a party instead of giving one.

4. Be hospitable . . . everyone loves going to a hospitable, happy home.

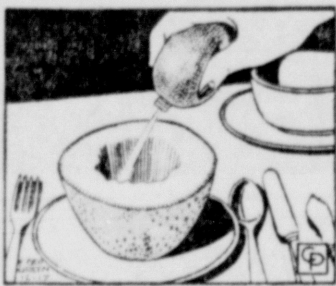

5. Don't make guests wait too long for dinner. Some misinformed people think if the liquor flows freely, dinner can wait. But worthwhile ones know that drinking is a social asset only when it is not overdone.

6. Always select your guests on the basis of kindred spirits and interests. One uncongenial guest can ruin a party.

7. Never invite more than you can conveniently house. It is better to have several small groups than it is to create crowding or strain.

How Much Can You Spend On Monthly Payment Plans?

By OTTO C. LORENZ, Associate Editor, The AMERICAN BANKER
Installment buying has made it possible for every family to have the appliances it needs—when it needs them.

There is little reason to wait until all the cash is available before buying the appliances you need, because with a new baby in the house, for example, certain appliances are necessary—and right away. A washer and a dryer, it is known, are invaluable for a new mother who is taking on the additional work of a baby and needs all the extra time and energy she can get.

She can have those appliances now by purchasing on the installment plan. Then she can have the use of the work-saving servants when she needs their help the most.

If you're wondering how installment credit buying affects the saving habit, a special study of consumer installment credit made at President Eisenhower's request for the Federal Reserve Board reports that "Consumers' desire to save and the importance they attached to the accumulation of savings were not impaired by their extensive use of installment buying."

Even if you have cash on hand, there may still be good reason to buy on installment. For, if you retain your full savings and go into debt to buy an appliance, the pressure of paying the installments will prevent the frittering away of income on unnecessary items.

There is no formula for determining how much of a family's income can be spent on monthly payment plans. However, two years ago a family with two children and $5,000 annual income spent about $48 a month on monthly payment plans. This figures out to be about 12.7 percent of the take home pay.

But the amount that can be spent each month is an individual family matter, and should be figured out with care. For instance some families in that same income bracket were committed to as much as $75 a month on monthly payments for cars, refrigerators, washing machines, household appliances and home improvements.

Checking revealed that they met their payments promptly and didn't get into trouble—chiefly because some one made the food and clothing dollars do a really fine job.

They had steaks and roasts occasionally, but mostly other good and less expensive meats that "home ec" classes had taught would go a long way and still keep everybody happy. Washing machines and refrigerators had been bought and paid for on the installment plan long ago—and what a saving in laundry bills and food conservation that was, now that the machines were fully paid for!

Economists say that payments on installment debt amounted to 12.7% of disposable income in 1955.

The following examples will show you how easy it is to repay a low-cost First National Bank Personal Installment Loan. If you borrow $100.00 and repay it over 12 months, your monthly payments will be $8.90 . . . over 18 months, payments will be $6.11, and over 24 months payments will be only $4.72. If you borrow $200.00 payments will be— for 12 months, $17.80; for 18 months, $12.21; for 24 months, $9.42. If you borrow $300.00 payments will be— for 12 months, $26.69; for 18 months, $18.31; for 24 months, $14.13. Stop in and ask us for complete details. First National Bank, Member F.D.I.C.

McKeldin Expected To Ask Tax Hikes

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 18 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin appeared ready tonight to ask the Maryland Legislature to boost both the sales and income taxes in order to balance the state budget for 1957-58.

State House sources confirmed the governor is contemplating these major general revenue sources to raise the some 37 million dollars plus he will need to fill the gap between expected income and expenditures in the fiscal year which begins next July 1.

He is expected to take the proposals before the General Assembly session which convenes in are approved, it will mark the first general tax boost since McKeldin took office in 1951.

1955 Boosts Scrapped

In 1955 he approved boosts in both the sales and income taxes to balance the budget and meet future revenue needs, but these were scrapped as a result of a windfall resulting from the state's adopting withholding of state income tax and some revised estimates made during the legislative session.

Sources say the 1957-58 outlook points to a budget deficit of around 40 million dollars and only increases in the state's major revenue sources—sales and income taxes—will meet it. A one per cent increase in each is expected to net around 41 million. This would mean a boost in the sales tax from 2 cents to 3 cents per dollar and a boost in the income tax from 2 to 3 per cent of taxable earnings.

Forecasts Due

McKeldin won't get an accurate official picture of the state's revenue until next Monday, when he meets with the Board of Revenue. Estimates in his Baltimore office at 10 a.m. to hear forecasts on revenue for fiscal 1959. However, it is understood from advance information that the state's surplus will be less than expected and that a rise in expenditures, mostly mandatory, will require the raising of some 40 million dollars more. The governor, in a speech in Baltimore earlier this month, had predicted a deficit of 37 million.

tion of it to new residences of people preferring to live beyond town and city limits.

Although air-conditioning has done much to build up the load for electric utility systems during the hot summer months, PE is presently in the season of the year when it is normally called upon to furnish the greatest supply of kilowatt-hours for its customers. On December 11 a record one-hour demand of 274,000 kilowatts was established, exceeding by 11,000 kilowatts the previous record of 263,000 kilowatts set November 25. On the following day, December 12, a new record output for a 24-hour period—5,284,000 kilowatt-hours—was established. It is not improbable that both the one-hour and 24-hour records will fall before the end of the month.

With only two more weeks to go, the net power supply for regular customers in 1957 is nine per cent better than for the same period of 1956. This improvement is greater than that shown by the industry nationally, and in part it reflects the substantial load which came on the line in the last quarter of the year at the new plants of the Lehigh Portland Cement Company at Union Bridge and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at Cumberland.

On November 30, a total of 157,949 customers were being served by the Potomac Edison System. This is 3,740 more than at the beginning of the year.

Sales of kilowatt-hours to residential customers in the year-to-date have increased 7.8 per cent over those in the same period of 1956. The average customer's annual use is 3,272 kw.

Commercial and industrial power customer sales of kilowatt-hours show improvements of 10.2 per cent and 12.4 per cent respectively.

With regard to the industrial power classification of PE customers, Alpha Portland Cement Company expects to begin clinker production at their new plant at Lime Kila, near Frederick, in mid-April of 1958. It is estimated that this initial production will require about 3,000 Kw of capacity.

Special efforts are being devoted to promoting electrical house heating and improved home wiring.

Area development promotion also continues to be effective, as the department has been instrumental in the location of a toy manufacturing plant which will employ 100-125 persons at Charles Town, W. Va., and of a plant at Moorefield, W. Va. for a kitchen cabinet building company. The latter ultimately will employ more than 300 persons.

These are two evidences of the constant work being done by the Department, Mr. Stultz reported, in assisting numerous cities and small towns in their efforts to try to attract a variety of businesses suitable to their localities.

Mr. Stultz also reported that the Mayor and Council of Ridgeley, W. Va., in October granted a new 50-year franchise under substantially the same terms as previous franchises.

He also stated that progress is being made to dispose of a large part of the Company's remaining railway property. An application was filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission December 9 which, if it receives expected favorable action, will permit the sale of tracks located on the south side of Frederick to The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company and the abandonment of the operation between Fort Detrick and Thurmont. PE's remaining railway, after the proposed sale and abandonment, will consist of 4.8 miles of track on the north side of Frederick. All of the present railway customers except two, who are located between Fort Detrick and Thurmont and who use the service infrequently, will continue to have railway service.

Mahoney Files For Beall's Senate Seat

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 18 (AP)—George P. Mahoney, a burr under the saddle of the Maryland Democratic donkey in four past elections, will be there again next year.

He assured the Democrats of having their hands full of nominating contests next May 20 by filing today for U. S. Senator.

It is his third stab for the position. He also failed in two tries for governor.

Mahoney's candidacy not only guarantees an all-out Democratic battle for the Senate nomination, but virtually cements another for governor.

Friends of Millard Tawes still had been hopeful of dissuading Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore from backing him for governor and switching his quest to the Senate. But Mahoney's presence makes that move more distasteful than ever for the mayor.

In fact, there's been a lurking suspicion that the mayor and Mahoney might team up, although they had been on opposite sides in the past.

Mahoney is an acknowledged vote getter of great strength despite inability to win an election. He's come so close to winning despite major political opposition within his own party that one wise-cracker after his 1956 setback

"they're going to have to find a new way for Mahoney to lose."

That was after he tied Millard Tydings in unit votes for the Democratic nomination for Senate. Tydings got the nod by the slim margin of popular votes. However, Mahoney made the race because Tydings was sick, and lost to Republican John Marshall Butler.

In 1950, Mahoney's first appearance in the statewide political picture, he got more popular votes than W. Preston Lane, who was seeking renomination for governor. But he had fewer unit votes and they are the initial determinant.

In his first try for the Senate in 1952, Mahoney defeated the veteran Democratic representative, Lansdale G. Sasser, for the nomination and lost in the general election to Republican J. Glenn Beall.

It is this seat which will be open again next year and Beall is counted as a sure candidate for re-election.

Mahoney, still on crutches from a foot injury he suffered in his last campaign nine months ago, radiated confidence while filing his candidacy. He predicted 1958 will be a Democratic year in Maryland.

"Both times previously the Eisenhower coattails made it possible for my opponents to get in, but I expect things to be different this time," he said.

He first will have to beat at least four other Democrats —

The NATO Nations And Sovereignty

When foundations for the United Nations were being laid down—as World War II was drawing to a close—great care was being taken to avoid the “super-state” sort of allegation that led to rejection by the Senate of U. S. membership in the League of Nations after World War I. The Moscow declaration of November 1, 1943 had called for the creation of an international organization “based on the sovereign equality of all peace-loving states.”

Even so, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in its resolution approving U. S. participation made it clear that the United States was “acting through its constitutional powers” in joining with “free and sovereign powers.”

Then when the North Atlantic Treaty was ratified by the Senate—in July 1949—opposition in part was voiced by those who believed the pact deprived Congress of its sole constitutional authority to declare war and thereby diminished U. S. sovereignty. The late Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), was one of 13 Senators—11 Republicans and two Democrats—to vote against the treaty.

Fears that have been expressed in Great Britain recently presumably stem from the “interdependence” communique that was issued at the October conference of President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and from Macmillan's subsequent statements about yielding sovereignty. But if the sharing of bases and weapons under NATO constitutes a yielding of sovereignty, certainly NATO members in other respects remain jealous of their national sovereignty. The U. N. compromise vote on Algeria on December 10, for example, can only be viewed as expressing recognition of the sovereignty of France over Algeria.

What the NATO members fear most is that the NATO Council could plunge a member nation into war without its prior consent. But in a day when wars can be expected to be fought with lightning speed, that danger may be a moderate alternative to instant extinction.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Practical Suggestion

It used to be that an educated man knew Latin, read Latin, wrote in Latin and all other educated men could understand him. Then came along the modern and local languages and each wrote in his own tongue. But the educated man was forced to learn quite a number of languages to work in his field. Scientists turned to German which before World War I was the language of knowledge; diplomats turned to French; tradesmen had to know English.

But the terminology of science, the classifications and names in all the sciences, including medicine, remained Latin. Therefore, the scientist of any country needed at least German and Latin to get by.

Nowadays, scientific papers are written in all languages, including Russian and Chinese. The terminology remains Latin, as for instance blattus means cockroach and no matter what language is native to a scientist, he can identify the 1,200 living species as belonging to the blattus family.

Today, important scientific papers are written in Russian. A competent translator then must know Russian, English and the science in which he is working to get out any kind of a translation. Let us say that he has to translate the reports on Sputnik I. He must be expert in Russian; he must write understandable English; he must be completely familiar with physics, chemistry, possibly mineralogy, meteorology, and whatever other sciences the report touches upon.

That requires a man of parts and obviously such men are hard to find. It is much easier to have translations from the German or the French. Much top-notch scientific work is being done in the Scandinavian countries and some of this work is done in Swedish, although some of it comes quickly into the German and is translated from the German into English.

The result of all this is enormous delay. It is easy enough for the outsider to criticize the government and various scientific groups for not knowing immediately what is going on everywhere in the world. The backlog of data must be tremendous because of this translation problem. What is even more costly is the duplication of work, for if in some part of the world the work has already been done and the result accomplished, it might be a few years before the translations have been made which the learned throughout the world can use.

The practical suggestion is that science accept Latin as a universal language as it was up to the 19th Century for the learned. In most countries, scholars still study Latin. It is true that Soviet Russia does not go in for dead languages but the Russian educational system is flexible and adapts itself to end results. In the United States, it is astonishing how many of the smart boys and girls have a good start in Latin in the high schools, particularly those who recognize the need for Latin terminology in medicine and in most scientific courses.

If scientific papers could be written in Latin in all countries, it would make current data immediately available. The idea of a universal language has attracted men's minds always. In recent generations several were suggested, as, for instance, Esperanto. But that just means adding more baggage. Latin is part of the equipment of the learned man anyhow and it is not too difficult to learn. It is already established and has been for several thousand years. Why manufacture another language when there is a workable one on hand?

Scientific knowledge is piling up so rapidly that it is no longer possible to say that anyone knows all there is to know. In fact, nobody can know everything even in his own subject. For most, a generalized knowledge of a science is sufficient with some data as to the progress that is being made. The expert is required to have a detailed, pin-prick familiarity with his particular subject.

For instance, there can be no doubt that the making of weather is the next important development in science. This can be a benefit to mankind; it can be the greatest of evils. It can mean that deserts will be made to bloom; it can be that whole countries can be flooded by the blowing up of icebergs by hydrogen bombs.

Very few in this world know anything about this subject and those who do must know an awful lot before anyone will respect their views.

Message To NATO

'We're For Us' Spirit Is Short-Sighted View

By Joseph Alsop

PARIS. Maybe a last minute miracle will be wrought, perhaps in the President's private talks with the NATO chiefs of state assembled here. But as of now, it does not appear that the raw material of success is present at this meeting of the leaders of the West.

With a certain glum sternness, Secretary of State Dulles has instructed the assembled representatives of the American press to consider this meeting as historic and successful just because so many heads of so many governments have been gathered together. By this criterion, the NATO rally is indeed a glittering triumph.

But the leaders of America's allies did not come here for a grandiose international tea party. They came because they hoped for an inspired reassertion of American leadership and a successful recreation of Western unity and strength. By such achievements, they hoped further that the Kremlin might be impressed and sobered; and so our troubled world might be rendered a bit more comfortable to live in.

These are the criteria of success that will be applied to this meeting by everyone except, apparently, the Secretary of State. And the raw material for this kind of success does not appear to be present because the American delegation did not bring it along from Washington.

It was up to the American delegation, for a central reason. The American continent is now increasingly exposed to direct and devastating Soviet attack. If war comes, therefore, the Western citadel, America, is now more likely to be attacked than the Western outposts, America's allies. That radically changes the relationship.

But owing to the feckless neglect of American defenses in the last five years, America's deterrent power still very largely depends on America's allies. They own the overseas bases without which the Strategic Air Command will be crippled. They alone can provide emplacements for the medium range ballistic missiles which are the first addition to Western strength that can now be hoped for.

With the limited exception of Great Britain, moreover, America still holds a monopoly of nuclear weapons. In these two ways, the NATO relationship is unchanged.

In this situation, the interests of the Western Alliance and above all, the practical interests of the United States most urgently demanded the most drastic application of the rule, "One for all and all for one." The strictly national American control of the West's stocks of nuclear weapons had been accepted for years as an exceptional case. But now the only rule that can guide any successful alliance needs to be rigidly applied without any exceptions.

Unfortunately, as it now turns out, the able NATO commander Gen. Lauris Norstad, had begun to agitate in Washington for the release of nuclear weapons to NATO long before the recent, ugly alteration of the world strategic balance. The political difficulties Norstad encountered in Washington were extremely serious.

Hence he only asked for the

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

As per always our allies are with us to our last man. And he's back again with Pandora's portfolio.

First gimmick to settle is the lunar satellite. Peace on earth and good will to moon.

Next is our international caper of presenting arms to the twin Bedouins. The French regard that as our Persian-Maltese policy. A slap in the puss.

This conference isn't getting anywhere with the same old U.N. interpreters. They should get a two-platoon team with happier ears.

You cannot blame our allies for thinking we are playing both ends against the middle like an idiot on a flute.

But we're the Blondin of the dotted lines and we'll sign anything.

We're hoping for better results this time with our cards on the table and all our chips on the window-sill.

Don't be discouraged because they haven't said anything yet. They've been talking only three days.

Entertainers Give Up Christmas Holiday To Visit Troops Overseas

By Drew Pearson

EN ROUTE TO U. S. BASES OVERSEAS—I am flying across the Atlantic to visit American bases in the Azores, Morocco and Libya during the Christmas season. For the last two years a group of entertainers organized by Michael Sean O'Shea have given their time and talent to go with me to bases near the North Pole. This year we are visiting North Africa.

Since this is an area where Little Rock did more damage than sputnik, I asked Abe Saperstein, owner of the Harlem Globetrotters, to let them come along. Abe graciously agreed, at considerable expense to himself; so the Globetrotters are staging some exciting basketball with the U. S. All-Stars in North Africa. I'll report as the trip progresses.

Destruction By Pushbutton

While the statesmen debate peace or war in Paris, the boys stationed out in mid-Atlantic and on the rim of the Sahara have been carefully watching. They should. They have most at stake. If war breaks, if some trigger-happy warmonger goes on a spree, they are the guys who'll be in the thick of battle within 15 minutes.

Wars have changed a lot these days. They can come quickly. They can come irresponsibly. Here are some of the things those on the front line, and we on the home line, face:

MISSILE MONKEY-BUSINESS—A missile expert at Cape Canaveral, Fla., pushed the wrong button on a Snark the other day. He meant to change its course, but he pushed the destroy button instead and the Snark exploded. Suppose he had pushed another wrong button and sent it into Miami, Rio de Janeiro, or Mexico City? There can be no monkey-business with missiles these days. This is the kind of push-button warfare Mr. Dulles wants to install in west Europe.

WAR BY STARVATION—Civil Defense experts estimate that if war came to the USA, the population would be out of food in three weeks. The grain elevators and food warehouses in the big cities would be knocked out first.

WAR BY WEATHER — The Russians are reported to have a secret powder which, sprinkled on snow and ice, melts it. This could melt the polar icecaps and flood the cities of New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

POISON AND HEAT—Even if Russia doesn't melt the icecaps, Dr. Edward Teller says we are consuming so much coal, oil, and gas that carbon monoxide in the air is getting higher, while the temperature is getting hotter. Thus by the year 2000 the polar icecaps might melt from industrial heat and gases.

All of this adds up to the fact that the world is getting more crowded, more complicated, and there's more absolute necessity to get along with each other. We've got to regulate not only such things as auto traffic and the killing of seals in the Bering Strait (which we've done on a friendly basis with Russia for 50 years), but we've also got to regulate how much carbon monoxide we put into the air. Among other things, it causes cancer.

If we can't cooperate with each other, if we can't get along with each other, then civilization is doomed. Either we'll poison ourselves or flood ourselves off the map or someone will push the wrong button.

These are some of the things I've been thinking about and some our troops are thinking about while allied statesmen talk about more missiles and missile bases in Paris.

She Talked To The Russians

A lot of other people are thinking along similar lines. Furthermore, they are doing something about it. My mail, my conversations show that seldom before have people been thinking so much, realizing so vividly the dangers of pushbutton warfare.

Mrs. Howard J. Thomas, wife of a hardware merchant in Hamilton, Va., has been thinking so much, she has visited the Soviet Embassy in Washington three times to talk about peace.

Mrs. Reva Beck Bosone, the former Congresswoman from Utah, has been thinking about it so much she came to see me with an idea to exchange mothers with Russia. She would pick 50 or 100 American mothers and send them for two weeks to live in Russian homes; have the same number of Russian mothers come to live in American homes.

The women would have to be carefully chosen. Women like Mrs. Dorothy Houghton of Red Oak, Iowa, former president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, could do a great job directing this.

"Why not give the women a chance to work for peace?" says Mrs. Bosone. "They bring sons into the world, see them march off as soldiers. They have to bear the hardest brunt of war. If the mothers of Russia and the United States could get together and understand each other, they could end war."

"It's an excellent idea—provided it's repeated every month, with a new pilgrimage of mothers going back and forth between the two big countries in whose hands rests the peace of the world."

These are just a few of the hundreds of ideas being advanced by people who understand the dangers of pushbutton warfare, who worry that their leaders in Paris are talking more about weapons to make war than about people-to-people friendship to prevent war.

Law Of The Land?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The "Supreme law of the land," which requires the states to give "equal protection" to all citizens, was obstructed and state laws were violated for more than a week in New York City by an organized group. Four leaders of the group were in jail for contempt of court, but the remainder of the organization kept on violating the law of the state of New York and obstructing the "equal protection" clause of the Federal Constitution.

Public transportation — an important function of the New York city government—is supposed to be furnished to all citizens who care to avail themselves of their rights as citizens. There is no right on the part of any labor union or any other organization of employees to strike against the government of the City of New York. Employees may quit work as individuals, but concerted action by a group of employees or labor leader which causes other city employees to stop working is not permissible under the laws of New York State.

Why were the voices silent which called so loudly for federal troops to be sent to Arkansas to enforce "the law of the land?"

Why did the mayor of the City of New York acquiesce in the violation of civil rights?

Why has the governor of New York State countenanced the willful disregard of a state law by an organized group?

This law specifically prohibits any strikes by civil service employees, such as those working for the City Transit Authority. Under the doctrine applied in Little Rock, if the state authorities allegedly do not enforce the laws nor guarantee "equal protection" of citizens, there is supposed to be a case for the use of federal troops. But nobody has been advocating any such program with respect to the New York City strike.

Even if federal troops are not considered necessary, as they were in Little Rock, to coerce obedience, the use of state troops to help operate transportation facilities in emergencies is in accord with precedent.

There is no question about the obligation of the governor and of the mayor to enforce the civil rights of the citizens and to give them public transportation. To deny this to the citizens who cannot afford taxicabs for long distances every day, or who do not own their own automobiles, is to discriminate as between classes of citizens.

Then why was the law of the State of New York and the constitutional principle of "equal protection" not enforced?

Two reasons may be advanced. One is that a substantial amount of local sentiment is sympathetic with the grievances of the strikers. Another is that neither Mayor Wagner, Democrat, who has ambitions to attain higher office, nor Governor Harriman, another Democrat, who aspires to the Presidency, wants to alienate labor-union votes in the future by doing anything now which could be construed later by political opponents as "strike busting."

Only three months ago Governor Faubus of Arkansas was bitterly condemned in the Northern states for allegedly being motivated by political ambition for a third term when he recognized local sentiment at Little Rock and ordered out state troops to prevent violence at the Central High School there. Then the federal government took over and today still maintains "federalized" National Guardsmen at the same school so as to uphold the "supreme law of the land" in the form of a district court order.

In the New York City subway-strike situation there is involved an order from the state courts to the union leaders, holding them in contempt for interfering with public transportation.

But none of the so-called "liberal" groups is demanding the impeachment of the public officials for dereliction of duty in failing to enforce the law of the state or the Federal Constitution as against labor agitators. For it is obvious that the strikers could not be acting in concert if it were not for some form of union leadership which has continued for several days to carry on the strike itself. Anyone who conspires with anyone else to do anything that maintains the strike is violating the law of the State of New York against stoppages of work by concerted activity where government workers and their public functions are involved.

When will the people of New York State and New York City recover the civil rights they have lost and when will the so-called "liberals," who usually play ball with the labor unions, speak out courageously in favor of "enforcing the law"? Or is the principle of the law enforcement applicable only at Little Rock?

Virtually nothing is heard today in New York about "the majesty of the law." It seems to be a case of the majesty of the strikers and the humble submission by law-enforcement authorities, state and federal, as the law of the State of New York and the provisions of the Federal Constitution are openly transgressed.

Lonaconing's Mail Carrier Plans Retirement

Thomas Izat, left, and Postmaster Edward McPartland are shown here just after Mr. Izat informed the postmaster that he plans to retire at the end of this month. Mr. Izat is shown with his new mail cart, which he has been using for sometime to make his daily deliveries. He was one of the first in the area to begin using the cart regularly, and commends it highly. He began his career as a mail carrier more than three decades ago, and was formerly a coal miner.

Town's Popular Letter Carrier Will Retire At End Of Month

Carried Lonaconing Mail Three Decades

By MISS MARIE MERRBAUGH
Lonaconing NEWS Correspondent

LONACONING — To Thomas Izat, known by Lonaconing families fondly as "our mail man," this Christmas mailing season has special meaning. As the month ends, the dawn of the New Year ushers in Mr. Izat's retirement as city carrier for a record service of 30 years and seven months.

Mr. Izat has the distinction of being Lonaconing's only mail carrier for 27 years. It has been only the last three years that Lonaconing has had additional mail carriers to deliver the mail in extended routes in the community.

The many Lonaconing families along Mr. Izat's mail delivery streets will miss their "mail man" after his long years of service having started May 27, 1927 as village letter carrier under William Marshall Sr., Lonaconing postmaster, on April 1, 1944 he became city carrier.

Postman Izat has served under J. Frank Guinn, postmaster, and Edward J. McPartland, who is postmaster at the present time at the new Lonaconing Post Office on Main Street.

There will be a little black dog named "Rascal" who has made a habit of accompanying Mr. Izat as he delivers mail in the East Main Street and neighboring areas of Castle hill and Furnace Street for the last two years. "Rascal" will be missing this regular jaunt with Mr. Izat.

Mr. Izat was born at Harpersville, Md., a small town near Lonaconing on April 6, 1897, a son of the late Robert S. and Jean Peel Izat. He began working in the coal mines in 1911 at the age of 13 at Klondike Mine No. 17. He worked in coal mines in Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia and ended his career at Klondike Mine No. 17, working in a small vein mine just one-quarter of a mile from the mine where he was first employed. He was a motorman at No. 17. For 16 years he worked in the mines without accident.

Mr. Izat resides with his wife, Mrs. Jean McCormick Izat, and a son, John, at Douglas Avenue, Lonaconing. Though he will be no longer "carrying the mail," he has a son, Aleck Izat, of Philadelphia, Pa., who is a railway postal clerk at Philadelphia; a son, Thomas Izat, who is a letter carrier at Cumberland; and his daughter Mary's husband, George Dykes, is a letter carrier at Chicago, Ill.

His retirement is due to a disability from a back injury when he fell on icy steps on January 18, 1939, delivering mail on Church street. On October 28, 1957, he underwent examination and treatment at the U S Public Health Service at Baltimore and was advised by his doctor to retire because his back condition has become chronic and requires the constant wearing of a back brace. He secured new brace supports last Friday which he will wear constantly to help his back condition.

Many Experiences
Recalling many of his interesting experiences and coming to the aid of people along his delivery routes, he remembered particularly that on April 20, 1944, an elderly gentleman had told Mr.

him and a nurse who tested his "culinary art" declared it was "the best cake she ever tasted." He possesses his certificate dated November 8, 1948 from the U S Civil Service Commission. The well-known postman ends his career with many memories of his contact with families, seeing the children grow up, getting married and getting families of their own. Of the olden days when "cake," his hobby since 1953 when his wife, confined with a stroke, explained the procedure of making a "hot milk cake" to her husband.

During a visit to George Eichhorn, Lonaconing undertaker, at Memorial Hospital when George was recuperating, Mr. Izat took a piece of his home-made cake to him "the best" in his retirement.

Maryland Wins Fifth Straight, Wallops Navy, 88-58

McNeil Leads Terps With 22 Counters

Unbeaten Terrapins Lead All The Way In College Park Tilt

By MARTY SUTPHIN
COLLEGE PARK, Md., Dec. 18 — Maryland's undefeated basketball team breezed to an 88-58 victory over neighboring Navy tonight to record its fifth straight triumph.

The Terrapins, ranked sixth nationally in this week's Associated Press poll, had only one rough spot. They missed their first 10 shots in the second half and their lead dropped from 18 points to 10 points with 12½ minutes left to play.

But sophomore Charley McNeil and Jerry Bechtel scored three field goals apiece during the next four minutes to boost the Maryland margin to 19 points.

McNeil led the Terps with 22 points, and sophomore Al Bunge, tallest man on the floor at 6-9, contributed 18.

Three of Bunge's field goals came in the first 2½ minutes of play and helped the home team jump off to an 8-0 lead.

Sophomore Jim Bower, getting his first starting assignment for Navy, led the Middies with 22 points.

Maryland's 88-point total was the highest score by either school in a 32-game series dating back to 1925. It was the most one-sided victory since 1945 when Navy defeated Maryland 70-33.

A crowd of 8,800 saw the Middies drop their third game in six outings.

After Maryland had moved quickly in front, Navy cut the lead to four points at 9-5 with Bower accounting for all the Middle points. But the Terps moved out to a nine-point margin midway through the first half and had an 15-point advantage, 47-29, at intermission.

Maryland's 88-point total was one point off the school's record high of last year the Terps scored against Montana State in a Christmas tournament at Owensboro, Ky.

The Terps converted 38 out of 48 free throws to set a new school record. The old high was 34 completed foul shots made against North Carolina in 1955.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 18 — Four basketball powers among the nation's top 10 face stern tests this weekend in the University of Kentucky Invitational Tournament that figures to shatter dreams of would-be kings.

The lineups match three unbeaten—North Carolina, Minnesota and West Virginia—plus Kentucky's twice-licked Wildcats.

The pairings make it a certainty that two of the undefeated will tumble and, if host Kentucky should win its own tournament, a third will suffer its first defeat. Thus, a reshuffling of ratings could come out of the two-night classic.

The four entrants own a combined record of 17 wins, 2 losses. Defending national champ North Carolina, again ranked first in the Associated Press poll, opens play Friday night against unbeaten Minnesota, No. 10 in this week's ratings.

West Virginia, No. 8 nationally, follows with its test against Kentucky, now No. 5.

The losers play for third place Saturday night before the winners battle for the title.

North Carolina rules the choice in this star-studded event, which figures to draw top attendance and possibly a new high payoff for the participants.

Minnesota and North Carolina were due in town tonight with West Virginia coming in Thursday for final tuneups.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Dec. 18 — No nationally ranked teams are in the field, but the best competition in its three-year history is expected in the Carrousel Basketball Tournament opening here tomorrow afternoon.

Louisiana Tech (4-0) and Tennessee (3-0) have the best records and each of the other six entries has lost two or three games, but there's no clear-cut favorite.

Four games will be played daily through Saturday, starting with this schedule tomorrow:
2 p.m. Tennessee-Buckley; 3:30 Alabama-Clemson; 7:30 Louisiana Tech-Davidson; 9-Lafayette-Louisiana State.

Wake Forest, winner of the first two Carrousel events, was not able to work the tournament into its schedule this year, leaving the way open for the crowning of a new champion.

Rams Edge Out Colts As NFL Offense Team

Total 4,143 Yards; Detroit Is Third

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18 — The Los Angeles Rams netted 445 yards in their final 1957 game to edge the Baltimore Colts by 20 yards for the total yards gained championship of the National Football League.

Official NFL statistics today showed the Rams totaled 4,143 yards in rushing and passing to 4,123 for the Colts.

The Californians, gaining only 2,061 yards in the air to the Marylanders, 2,388, depended on its ground attack to cop the title. In rushing the Rams gained a margin of 407 yards over the Colts, 2,142 to 1,735.

Detroit finished in third place with 3,840 yards, 1,811 rushing and 2,029 passing.

The Chicago Cardinals and the Pittsburgh Steelers will meet next Sunday for the final regular game of the season. However, there is little chance that either team will move into the top five teams.

The Cardinals have registered 3,121 yards and the Steelers 2,593.

In rushing, Los Angeles also won the title with 2,142 yards to 1,958 for the Cleveland Browns.

Baltimore gained the most yardage in the air with 2,388. The New York Giants trailed with 2,100.

In other close competition between the Rams and Colts, the Rams won the scoring title when the team tallied 37 points to the Colts' 21 in the last game of the season. Los Angeles' total was 307 points to 303 for Baltimore.

San Francisco completed 62.6 per cent of its passes to top Baltimore (56.4).

For the punting championship San Francisco edged out New York by a tenth of a yard. The 49-ers booted the ball for an average of 44.7 for each of its 57 punts. The Giants, leader most of the season, averaged 44.6.

Baltimore allowed only 3.1 yards per rush to its opponents. The Bears permitted 3.3 yards per carry and Pittsburgh, who will have another chance to better its position, trails with 3.5.

Cleveland topped pass defense in the league. Opponents completed only 43.4 per cent of their 242 passes against the Browns. New York allowed 46 per cent.

SPORTS GRILL

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 — (INS) — The craze for scoring in sports has now reached the ridiculous stage in basketball, and some coaches are wondering what can be done to put the game on a sound basis.

The last word in folly was reached not long ago in a game between the New York Knickerbockers and the St. Louis Hawks when the final score was 134 to 126. That's a total of 260 points scored in 48 minutes or 5.4 points a minute.

These teams are professionals but some of the college scores are almost as bad when you remember that the amateurs play only 40 minutes.

As one coach remarked in a group discussion "everybody can shoot these days."

Suggestions for restraining the scoring spree run all the way from raising the basket or enlarging the ball to lopping a few inches off the arms of the tallest players.

That last suggestion was made in jest, of course, but even if some of the boys had only one arm they could score well. For instance, Wilt Chamberlain, the seven-footer who plays for Kansas, sometimes reaches backward over his head and dunks the ball in the basket.

Several coaches declare it would do little good to raise the basket because, as one pointed out, some of the goons would score almost as well as they do now if the basket were raised two feet.

Coaches in the metropolitan area differ over the merits or demerits of the zone defense vs. the man-to-man.

The pros barred the zone defense because it put a damper on scoring and took much of the action out of the game.

A basketball is 9¼ inches in diameter and the rim of the basket is 18 inches in diameter. This means that you could almost put two basketballs through the hoop at the same time.

One coach suggested that the basket hoop be reduced to, say, 14 inches. This would obviously make scoring more difficult while detracting nothing from the speed and color of the game.

It was estimated that a 14-inch hoop might cut scoring by 30 per cent, perhaps more, even with the wide open game engendered by a man-to-man defense.

Nobody wants to return to the old days of the Original Celtics when a 20-18 score was not unusual. But surely there is a limit to these scoring orgies as illustrated by the aforementioned 260 points in one game.

Celaperms Sweep Fortisans Series

The second-place Celaperms knocked off the front-running Fortisans, 3-0, yesterday in a Celanese Staff Bowling League match, cutting the league-leaders' lead to six games.

In another match rolled on the Club Recreation alleys the last spot Arnels topped the Acetates, 2-1.

High scorers were Bernard Tasker, 185-485, and Ethel Northcraft, 348, for the Celaperms; Bud Dickerhoff, 472, and Marian Heiskell, 348, for the Fortisans; Erma Kreiger, 433, and Francis Stein, 356, for the Arnels; and Byron Bonebreak, 414 and Grace Lashley, 350, for the Acetates. The standings:

Gillman Retained As Rams Coach

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18 — Sid Gillman will coach the Los Angeles Rams again next year.

The owners met yesterday with General Manager Pete Rozelle and decided to have Gillman fill out the one year still to go on his contract. They expressed satisfaction with Gillman's work but disappointment with the won and lost record (6-6) of the Rams this season in the National Football League.

Chicago Has Best Defensive Team

By FRED DE LUCA

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 — (INS) — Chicago's go-go White Sox captured the team fielding championship again in 1957 even though the Pale Hose were not able to place a single player on the circuit's all-star defensive team.

New York, Kansas City, Boston and Baltimore had two players each on the top fielding team while Detroit contributed the ninth man. The biggest surprise among the top nine fielders was Boston's Ted Williams, whose batting exploits are all too well known but who generally is regarded as "something less than a top-grade glove man."

The White Sox, who led the circuit in 1956 with a .979 fielding average, upped that mark to .982 in repeating as champions. Baltimore finished one point back, followed by New York and Detroit at .980.

Ackerman's Goal Wins Contest 46-45

A driving layup with less than 20 seconds to play by Paul Ackerman gave the Knights of Columbus cagers a thrilling 46-45 decision over the 40 & 8 Club last night in a City Basketball League contest at Carver gym.

The triumph was the first for the Casey's in the circuit while the 40 & 8ers still are seeking their initial victory.

In another City engagement the Old Germans picked up their second straight win with an easy 40-49 conquest of Chaney's Transportation.

In the battle between the Casey's and the 40 & 8 quint the lead changed hands three times in the final two minutes of play before Ackerman's goal decided it.

High point men for the victors were Marty Mullaney with 15 tallies and Norm Geatz with 10. Best for the losers was Ed Riley with 15 points.

The Old Germans had little trouble with Chaney's taking a 19-9 first quarter lead and gradually building it throughout the game. High point men for the Old Gees were Don Moran with 12 goals and 27 points and Jim Eckard with 17 markers. Tops for Chaney's was Robert Scott's 14 points.

Eugene Mason, City Recreation Department head, announced a change in tonight's schedule. The contest between the Old Germans and the 40 & 8 Club, set for tonight at 8:30 has been postponed.

The only game scheduled will be the 7 p. m. clash between the Moose and Old Exports. The lineups:

Keeping Up With Hollywood
by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 18 (INS)—For five years Agatha Christie's murder mystery "The Mouse Trap" has been doing the big business on the London stage, so little wonder Jimmy Woolf thinks he has the best Christmas present he could get—the film rights to this chiller. Agatha herself has consented to write the script for this Romulus production.

Woolf, who has been in Hollywood, tells me he leaves for his home in London next week to start activating his "prize" property and if his luck holds he hopes to have Joan Collins and Richard Burton as his stars.

Just as Miss Christie's "Witness For the Defense" has a surprise ending, "Mouse Trap" turns out in an unexpected manner—and Jimmy tells me the same kind of a campaign will be staged to keep it a secret.

Shortly after director George Cukor bowed out of "Cat On a Hot Tin Roof," I asked him his reasons. George said it was entirely because he didn't like the script of Tennessee Williams' sordid play.

"I am not sure the public will like this play or understand it," he said. "I couldn't do an emaciated version, and I don't see how the movie itself could be properly presented. All of Williams' plays require special types and fine actors and actresses to correctly interpret them," George added.

I wondered at the time MGM bought this play, why they spent good money on a property that even though it won a Pulitzer Prize, is so unpleasant in theme and idea.

The New York doctor Ava Gardner consulted told her it was imperative that she have surgery on her face and begged her not to wait, but at the last minute she decided against it. She returned to Madrid last Saturday with her face no better. Her lip and one side of her face is completely numb and disfigured. I am told she telephoned Frank Sinatra just before she left, and he advised her to listen to the doctor. But so great was her fright that she returned to Spain no better, but no worse than she was when she arrived in this country.

One of the five-year-old twins of Ingrid Bergman is very talented—she sings and dances like a professional. She wants to be an actress like her famous mother and she will get her way.

Ingrid has agreed to let Isobel make her stage debut in Milan next summer with her uncle, Renzo Rossellini, a brother of the little girl's father, Roberto Rossellini. Renzo, a composer-conductor, is completing a new opera and there is a small role for the child.

Rossellini's family has remained friendly with Ingrid, and the children have been much in the care of Rossellini's sister.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

December 28 is the date of Natalie Woods' marriage to Bob Wagner.

Bing Crosby will make one of his few appearances at the opening tomorrow night (with Kathy, of course) of "Bridge On the River Kwai." There will be no television and no radio in the lobby.

Gov. Knight and Senator Knowland are among the big names who have accepted invitations. Sam Spiegel flew in, but William Holden will not be among those present. He didn't finish his picture in London in time, due to bad weather.

Wearing a filmy gown of white lace over blue, Sandra Dee made her appearance at Maggie Etinger's open house pre-Christmas party with Ross Hunter and Jacques Mafes.

Shirley Jones who was there with Jack Cassidy, spent a lot of time talking to Sandra, and so did Margaret Lindsay who looked so well.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

The bidding:
North 1 heart 3 clubs 3 pass
East 1 heart 3 clubs 3 pass

Opening lead: Ten of hearts.

When a hand appears on the surface ironclad, that is the time to look around for possible accidents and to guard against their occurrence. This is the creed of the safety play and failure to observe this creed cost South half of the potential swing that developed from his preemptive bid.

The immediate five club overcall neatly blocked East and West from finding their spade fit. Game at spades was a laydown, and, in the absence of a diamond lead, five could have been made.

Against South's five club contract, the ten of hearts was opened and declarer took it with the ace. He forthwith led a trump which East took with the ace, and a heart return was ruffed by West. The ace of diamonds was this possibility by winning the first trick in dummy with the king of hearts, upon which the ace of hearts should be shed.

In addition to being good business, it is also good drama. There is nothing quite so disturbing to enemy morale as the discarding of an ace. Now when East is in with the ace of trumps he may return a heart, but declarer can ruff high enough to insure winning the trick and then only the ace of diamonds need be lost.

Boy Killed By Truck In Keyser

Bruce Rodeheaver, First Grader, Ran Against Vehicle

A six-year-old first grader was killed instantly yesterday shortly after noon when he was run over by a truck in front of the elementary school in Keyser, W. Va.

The youngster, Bruce Rodeheaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rodeheaver of Route 50, near Keyser, was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital but was pronounced dead on arrival. He had a crushed chest and a fractured skull.

Raymond Dawson of the Keyser Police, who investigated, said the young boy was apparently running toward a small store across Piedmont Street and either did not see the truck or was unable to stop in time.

The driver of the vehicle, Lane Bryant Parker, 24, of Needmore, W. Va., said he did not see the child and was unaware of the accident until he felt the rear dual wheels run over something.

Several witnesses to the accident said the youth ran down the school yard into the side of the vehicle and was thrown beneath the rear wheels.

Both the elementary school and Keyser High School were out for the lunch hour and many of the students saw the accident occur at 12:24 p.m.

The truck was unladen at the time and the driver was on his way for a load of coal. He had had a flat tire earlier in the morning and had transferred the load to another truck during the repairs.

Officer Dawson said no charges have been placed against Parker and the investigation of the accident is being continued.

The body is at the Combs Funeral Home in Romney.

Keyser Man, Shot While Hunting, Dies

Howard K. Barricks Jr., 25, of Keyser, W. Va., who had been in "serious" condition since he was shot while deer hunting December 4, died yesterday morning in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser.

Barricks, who resided at 29 Gilmore Street, Keyser, was shot in the abdomen by his brother-in-law, Andrew Simpson, 25, also of 29 Gilmore Street.

The accident occurred when Simpson fired at what he thought was a deer in a heavy clump of pines. The bullet struck Barricks and ranged downward through his abdomen.

Claude Rice, West Virginia Conservation Officer who investigated the December 4 shooting, said last night that Simpson has been in a state of shock since the shooting and suffered a mild heart attack last Saturday. He was to be given a hearing yesterday on a negligent shooting charge but this was postponed by Donald C. Hott, prosecuting attorney of Mineral County.

Mr. Rice said the investigation of the case will be continued. The two men were hunting on the Simpson farm about five miles east of Keyser on West Virginia State Route 46.

After discovering he had shot his brother-in-law, Simpson notified other hunters and the wounded man was removed to the hospital by the ambulance from Keyser Volunteer Fire Company.

It was reported that Barricks had shown some improvement last week but took a turn for the worse earlier this week.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Barricks; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard K. Barricks, Keyser; a sister, Mrs. Delores Simpson, Baltimore, and two stepchildren.

The body will be at the Markwood Funeral Home, Keyser, after 1:30 p. m. today. Services will be conducted there Saturday at 2:30 p. m. by Rev. S. A. F. Wagner, pastor of Grace Methodist Church. Burial will be in Queens Point Cemetery.

Tri-Towns Officials Meet Tonight To Study Sewage Plan

A meeting of the mayors and councils of the Tri-Towns has been called for tonight at 9 o'clock in the Westernport council chamber, to discuss the area sewage treatment proposal.

Mayor Okey Michael of Westernport said the Mayor and Council of Piedmont and the Mayor and Council of Luke have been invited to the joint session along with his own council.

The officials will study the proposal of the Upper Potomac River Commission to have the three incorporated communities tie their sewage systems into a new sewage disposal plant being planned by West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

The proposal was presented several days ago. The major cost of the project is to be borne by the paper company, however, the three towns will be asked to bear the cost of extending and locating some of their sewer lines.

Stores Are Busy: Area Christmas Stockings Will Be As Full As Ever

Christmas stockings in the Cumberland area will be as full as ever.

The Christmas shopping here got off to a tardy start because of a late Thanksgiving and some bad shopping weather, but most downtown merchants anticipate business will be as good as last year, if last-minute shopping comes up to expectations.

Some stores reported buying was running a little behind last year and some a little ahead, but all agreed that the last five shopping days will tell the tale.

Christmas buying really blossomed last Friday, Saturday and this Monday, and has been fair since.

Several stores reported Christmas buying was ahead of last year and that it may be the best Christmas shopping season ever.

The Associated Press reported yesterday that most Maryland merchants agree that business is as good as last year in spite of: 1. The lateness of Thanksgiving this year shortened the Christmas shopping season by six days.

2. The Dec. 4 and 5 snowstorm and nearly a week of rain which followed kept shoppers home, postponing, although not curtailing, their Christmas spending.

3. Money is tighter and the spenders are more cautious.

The consensus of merchants in Annapolis, Baltimore, Cambridge, Cumberland, Frederick and Hagerstown was that all the above factors, shorter season, weather and general economics, have more or less retarded the Christmas buying spree, and make it hard to compare it with last year's.

But most say that when the figures are in for November and December and are compared with the same months last year, sales will be about even with 1956's Christmas sales.

Prices—all agree—are about the same as last Christmas, a few items higher, a few down but the general level about the same.

By year-end the investment in the system's plant and property will total $11 1/4 million. As an indication of post-World War II growth, it is interesting to note, Mr. Stultz said, that $72 million of that total has been added since 1946.

The utility's construction program has been favored throughout the year by excellent weather conditions. All of the major projects completed were placed in service as scheduled. The largest single project still in the process of construction—the addition of the new No. 4 generating unit at the R. Paul Smith Plant at Williamsport—is proceeding and is ahead of the original construction schedule.

Through November, a total of $6,200,000 had been spent on the $13-million Smith No. 4 unit project which was begun last December. At this time there is no reason to believe, Mr. Stultz said, that this largest and most efficient of the system's generating units will not be on the line by the end of the third quarter of 1958.

The company's construction personnel have completed the building of the 58 miles of new 132 Kv transmission line from Junction, W. Va. (near Romney) to Millville, W. Va. (near Charles Town) and a 5-mile spur line of the same type from it to a point near Winchester, Va. The line and large associated terminal substations were placed in service early in November.

The importance of these facilities lies in the fact that there is now additional assurance of an adequate supply of power for the large load centers in PE's eastern and southern areas through this third large means of transmitting power from the western section of the territory, where there are interconnections with other parts of the West Penn Electric System.

Other construction contributing to the record program in 1957 were numerous smaller transmission projects and an unusually heavy amount of distribution work. In the last several years the latter has included building progressively heavier and more extensive local systems to accommodate new housing developments, large-scale commercial installations such as shopping centers, and the growing load from existing customers brought about by the increasing acceptance of air conditioning, the electric clothes dryer and electric house heating.

Despite the fact that for several years better than 9 out of every 10 farms in the PE territory have had electric service, during 1957 the utility will have built approximately 150 more miles of rural lines, a good portion of which will be in the Potomac Valley.

Food Orders To Be Mailed

Christmas food orders will be mailed by the Salvation Army tomorrow and Saturday, according to Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Citadel.

The S. A. Christmas Order committee will meet today at noon at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory to complete plans for the distribution.

Attending will be W. D. Pealer, Homer S. Higgins, Duard H. Little and Capt. Biggs.

The Citadel is distributing toys for the needy and will complete that phase of the Christmas Cheer program tomorrow.

The Christmas Cheer fund stood at the $1,563.67 mark yesterday, including $825.45 from the S. A. kettle drive, $571.10 from kettle collections by clubs Saturday, $66.12 from wrapping booths and $101 from mailed donations.

5 SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

Officials Are Briefed On Road Ratings

To Study Priorities Given To Highway Jobs By Experts

The sufficiency of highways in Allegany and Frederick counties was discussed mile by mile yesterday by State Roads Commission officials and delegations from the two counties.

The meetings were held separately at roads commission headquarters here. They were conducted by Robert O. Bonnell, commission chairman, and Chief Engineer Norman Pritchett.

William A. Wilson, Allegany County commissioner, explained the roads commission has established a sufficiency rating system under the 12-year road building program. The rating assigned a road determines the priority given it under the road-building program.

To Decide Later "They explained the sufficiency rating given each section of road," Wilson said. "They also plan to send us copies of this presentation to study."

"Then we will decide if there is any road which we feel should have a higher or lower rating."

The Allegany delegation made no recommendations yesterday, he said, but only listened.

Other members of the delegation included Delegates George R. Hughes Jr., Thomas N. Berry, Lester E. Reed, David L. Williams and Fred B. Driscoll, County Atty. Gorman E. Getty, President James Orr of the board of county commissioners, and County Roads Supervisor Walker Chapman.

The Frederick County delegation was headed by Sen. Ramsburg.

Faces Stretch-Out Del. Reed, chairman of the Allegany County Delegation, said the road construction program is to be revised to cover 15 years.

He said SRC officials briefed Allegany and Frederick county officials on the programs for their areas, but did not sound out officials for their opinions.

The SRC, he said, had met with representatives of seven of the 23 counties to present a detailed picture of Maryland's road system.

Legislative action would be needed, he said, to revise the 12-year program, adding that SRC officials reported it would be impossible to do this at the 1958 General Assembly.

He said they hope to be ready to present revision acts in the 1959 session.

Two Jobs Slated The original 12-year-program was expected to cost about $568,000,000, but is now expected to cost about $1,000,000,000, he said.

Additional costs, he said, will result partly from unforeseen costs and partly because of the tie-in with the Federal Interstate road system.

Del. Reed said county officials were told that the State Roads Commission advertised Tuesday for bids on improving U.S. 40 from the Narrows to Long and will advertise, before the first of the year, for improvements to U.S. 40 east between Polish and Martin mountains.

Nothing definite was said, he reported, on interstate status of Route 40 west of Hancock, except that any addition would require an act of Congress.

President Orr said county officials will get together for further study and recommendations after data is forwarded by the SRC.

He said several projects not included in the 12-year program, including the Pinto Bridge, were discussed.

Back in 1954, the first official candidate was Robert Lee Jeffrey of Lonaconing, who filed January 2 for the GOP nomination for the House of Delegates.

The filing deadline is midnight Monday, March 10, some 70 days before the May 20 primary election.

To Meet Dec. 20

The Universal Craftsmen Council of Engineers will meet at the Junior Order Hall on Polk Street at 8 p.m. on the first Mondays and third Fridays, according to Eugene C. Park, worthy chief.

The next regular meeting of the Masonic council for craftsmen and engineers will be held December 20, followed by refreshments.

The council was organized here recently and is the second to be formed in Maryland. A Baltimore-Washington council was formed a number of years ago.

James Russell Files First For Co. Office

Seeks Commissioner Post As Democrat

James P. Russell of Mt. Savage yesterday became the first official candidate in the 1958 county-wide elections when he paid his $25 filing fee at the office of the Allegany County Board of Education Supervisors in the Court House basement.

Mr. Russell filed as a Democratic candidate for county commissioner subject to the May 20 primary election.

It will be his second try for county commissioner. Back in 1954 he waited until April 13 to file. That year the primary was on June 28 but he was automatically certified to the general election because he was the only Democratic candidate for the post.

In the November 2 general election, Mr. Russell was last in a five-man race. The successful candidates, all Republicans, were Charles N. Wilkinson, with 16,858 votes; James Orr, 13,988; and William H. Lemmert, 13,394. A Lee Marple, an independent, was fourth with 10,605, and Mr. Russell had 9,963, which was 3,431 fewer votes than the lowest successful candidate.

The first official candidate operates a scrap business at Slabtown.

Although he's the first to pay his fee, two other men have announced they will run in the Republican primary. Irvin C. "Irish" Alexander, who works in Baltimore but maintains a legal residence in Lonaconing, says he will seek the GOP nomination for the House of Delegates. Louis V. Shinnamon, local merchant who lives in LaVale, announced that he will be a Republican candidate for county commissioner.

Back in 1954, the first official candidate was Robert Lee Jeffrey of Lonaconing, who filed January 2 for the GOP nomination for the House of Delegates.

The filing deadline is midnight Monday, March 10, some 70 days before the May 20 primary election.

Fort Hill High Students Use Sermon For Program

The Christmas musical program which the Fort Hill High School choir will present at a combined junior and senior high school assembly at 2 p.m. Friday is an adaption of a sermon entitled "Can You Keep Christmas?" by the late Rev. Peter Marshall.

This adaption was the work of the Fort Hill Players, directed by Miss Helen S. Smith. It was adapted for choral readings.

Selections which the choir, directed by Miss Mary M. Robb, will sing will include "In Silent Night," "The Adoration of the Shepherds" and "Adeste Fideles," both from Child Jesus; "Silent Night," "Joy To The World," "Mary, Mary, Where Is Your Baby?" "White Christmas" and "And The Glory Of The Lord" from "The Messiah."

Barbara Lippold, a soprano, will sing "Jesu Bambino."

There will be tableaux to illustrate the various Christmas songs and choral readings.

Parents and friends are invited to attend the assembly which will be the final activity before the school closes for the Christmas holiday.

While the musically inclined students will spread their Christmas cheer tomorrow afternoon, the members of the senior high art class already have done their bit for the season by painting six third-floor windows at Fort Hill.

Sophomores, juniors and seniors who have beautified the six windows are Ruth Miller, Janet Clay, Betty Elliott, Gale Arbogast, Rosemary Evans, Shirley Brooks, Madelyn Blonsky, Judy Wratchford, Nancy Brill, Julia Hendricks, Barbara Alexander and Mary Lee Collins.

This is the last special activity for the class under the direction of Mrs. Constance K. Kurtz, art instructor, who is resigning effective tomorrow to take a new position in New Kensington, Pa., where her husband, Herbert Kurtz, will manage a country club. They have been at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Wreckers Begin Removal Of Old Roman Home

Wrecking of what remains of the old Roman home on Washington Street was started yesterday by a crew from the Cumberland Salvage Company as a preliminary to the construction of a new St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Harold Fearer, a member of the church's property committee, reported yesterday afternoon that a contract was entered into with Frank J. Brown Jr., operator of the Cumberland Salvage Company, calling for the removal of the once impressive residence and carriage house within 30 days.

Mr. Brown said at the scene, where he started a crew of eight men on the wrecking job yesterday, that the razing should be completed within three weeks. Remaining wood was removed from the old residence's porches as the first step in the razing process.

Rev. John F. Sammel, pastor of St. Paul's Church, said that it is now hoped that construction of the new $600,000 church can be started on or about March 1.

The architectural firm of Alfred Hamme and Associates, York, Pa., has promised to have final plans for the new church ready for consideration by the beginning of the new year. It is planned to present these plans at the annual congregational meeting on January 8.

Once the plans are accepted, contractors will be requested to bid on the church project. Between four and six weeks will be allowed for the submission of bids so that the contract can be awarded and work started by March 1.

Amoco Station Will Be Moved

The American Oil Company announced last night it has closed its service station facilities on South Mechanic Street next to the Western Maryland Railway freight shed.

Joseph Schmidt, local representative of the company said it became necessary to vacate the premises.

The company has sites in mind for a new station and negotiations are now being made to acquire the premises, he said.

Mr. Schmidt said the oil company had operated a service station at the South Mechanic Street site since 1924.

B&O Revenue Up, Net Income Down

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad reported today it continued to make less money last month and its profits for the first 11 months this year were $4,723,000 below last year.

The drop in net income occurred despite an increase in operating revenues of $1,732,000 for the 11 months.

Van Horn Guilty Of Manslaughter

Ruled Sane At Wife's Slaying; Gets 10 Years

TOWSON, Md., Dec. 18 (AP)—Robert Jett Van Horn was convicted of manslaughter tonight in the June 1 slaying of his wife, and was sentenced immediately to the maximum 10 years in prison.

Three judges, hearing the case without a jury in Baltimore County Circuit Court, returned the verdict at 7:20 p.m., EST, after deliberating exactly three hours.

Judges John B. Gontrom, Michael Paul Smith and Lester L. Barrett also ruled that the 33-year-old lumber executive was legally sane at the time of the homicide and is legally sane now.

The tall, gray-haired defendant, impeccably dressed as always, showed little emotion as the verdict was read. He brushed his hand lightly across his forehead and was led away.

When the guilty verdict was pronounced, grim-faced members of Van Horn's family stood behind him—his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Van Horn; his brother, Charles R. Van Horn; his wife, and a friend of the wife's.

No Appeal Mentioned

The elder Van Horn is a retired vice president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The defendant's brother is a B. and O. official in Washington.

Van Horn himself was born in Clarksburg, W. Va., and attended high school in Gratton, W. Va.

There was no mention of an appeal and defense attorney John Grason Turnbull had no comment on that or any other phase of the case. When Judge Gontrom asked if the defense was ready for sentencing, Turnbull conferred briefly with Van Horn and other defense lawyers, turned and said he was.

Van Horn was charged with beating his socialite wife, Bernice, 34, to death at their country home and dumping her body down the slope of an unfinished roadway.

The defendant testified his wife had hit him across the side of his face with her pocketbook as a climax to an argument over the need for servants at their home. He pleaded innocent and the defense contended he was insane at the time.

Expert Testimony

Much of the 13-day trial was consumed with detailed testimony on Van Horn's mental condition by psychologists, neurologists and psychiatrists.

The court's verdict tonight said: "After careful consideration of the testimony, court is of the opinion that the defendant, Robert Jett Van Horn, was legally sane beyond a reasonable doubt at the time of the commission of the homicide under the McNaughton rule, which is the law of the State of Maryland."

"We believe that at the time... the defendant under the McNaughton rule had the capacity and reason sufficient to enable him to distinguish between right and wrong and to understand the nature and consequence of his act as applied to himself."

"The court therefore finds that at the time of the commission of the homicide the defendant was legally sane and further finds that he is legally sane now."

Burden Of Proof With State

Earlier today, the judges instructed themselves that the state must prove Van Horn was sane "beyond a reasonable doubt" if he could be found guilty of deliberately murdering his wife.

The ruling defined what it must determine to find Van Horn guilty of first degree murder, second degree murder, manslaughter—or innocent.

To return a first degree murder conviction, the court said, it must agree, "beyond a reasonable doubt," that Van Horn at the time his wife was slain "was mentally competent to distinguish between right and wrong and to understand the nature and consequences of his acts as applied to himself."

Second degree murder, it said, was killing another person, aware of what the results would be. This means, it said, "that the killing was intentionally done, without legal excuse or justification."

"The offense is manslaughter," the ruling went on, "if the act causing death is done in the 'heat of passion' caused by adequate, or reasonable, 'provocation' provided provocation is not sought or caused as an excuse for killing or inflicting hurt."
